Administrative Cost of Alive & Thrive-FHI Project

Tahir Sarker, Assistant Director, United States Department of Health and Human Services, Family Health International-USA

The administrative cost of the Alive & Thrive project in Bangladesh for the year 2017 has been calculated. The project was funded under the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and implemented by Family Health International-USA in collaboration with the Bangladesh Center for Disease Control.

The administrative costs include personnel salaries, travel expenses, and other administrative expenses. The total administrative cost for the year 2017 was $X, where X represents the actual cost.